Around The GNAC

GNAC ACCUMULATING RANKED TEAMS AHEAD OF CONFERENCE PLAY:

The GNAC's top teams continued their hot starts and garnered plenty of regional and national recognition. The conference has three teams – Alaska Anchorage, Western Washington and Saint Martin's – ranked in the Top 25 in the D2SIDA Media National Poll, featuring UAA at No. 1. Those three squads also occupy the top three places in D2SIDA's West Region rankings.

With a full slate of Thanksgiving weekend games, the standout performance came from a team that wasn't even celebrating the holiday. Simon Fraser forward Jessica Wisotzki won the GNAC Player of the Week award after averaging 29.5 points per game in SFU's two contests at the Sea Lions Thanksgiving Classic in San Diego.

Wisotzki scored 32 points on 12 of 18 shooting against Concordia Irvine, leading Simon Fraser to an 85-75. The next night, she came out and scored 27 points and eight rebounds, but even that wasn't enough to top host Point Loma, who won 81-75.

Northwest Nazarene, on the other hand, did come away with two wins against those same two opponents, who were picked to finish third and fourth in the PacWest Conference. The two quality wins earned the NNU women selection as the GNAC Team of the Week. Teagan Thurman led the way, averaging 14.5 points and 11 rebounds, including a 20-point, 13-rebound double-double against CUI.

Speaking of double-doubles, Central Washington center Samantha Bowman has five, tied for the most in Division II, and she added two to her tally this past week. Bowman put up lines of 13 points and 13 rebounds against Westminster (Utah) and 12 points and 16 rebounds against MSU Denver. She ranks top-five nationally in both blocks and rebounds per game.

Alaska Anchorage and Western Washington each remained undefeated by recording a pair of victories, and both will enter the first round of GNAC games this week at 5-0.

The highlight of this week's slate is a match-up between UAA and Saint Martin's, who has stormed to a 5-1 start and cracked No. 25 in the national D2SIDA poll while rising to No. 3 in the West Region rankings. This week of conference action will just be a teaser, with the next GNAC games not being played until Dec. 30.
