Falcons Continue To Feel Right At Home On The Road

Led once again by the prolific goal-scoring of senior forward Alex Mejia, Seattle Pacific swept through their Hawaii road trip with a 3-0-0 record, pushing them to 5-0-0 overall on the road this season. The Falcons enter GNAC play with a 6-1-0 record and a No. 16 national ranking. Seattle Pacific defeated Hawaii Hilo 3-2 in overtime on Wednesday, Chaminade 4-0 on Saturday, and Hawaii Pacific 2-1 on Monday.

Mejia scored three goals last week to bring his season total to seven and keep up his goal-per-match pace, but the Falcons got contributions from plenty of others. Alden Massey scored twice for the Falcons and Nik Reiersen provided a goal from his right back position while also helping hold Hawaii Hilo to five shots and Chaminade to two shots on goal, earning Reiersen the GNAC Defensive Player of the Week award.

Western Washington, the only other GNAC team in action this past week, faced the same three opponents and went 1-2-0, defeating Hawaii Pacific on Friday but falling to Chaminade in double overtime Tuesday and Hawaii Hilo on Sunday.

Despite the Vikings' 1-2 record, Drew Farnsworth came to play in all three matches. The senior midfielder tallied two goals and two assists, earning him the GNAC Offensive Player of the Week selection.

Now that SPU and Western Washington have returned home, all teams have completed their non-conference schedules. The GNAC season kicks off on Thursday with Simon Fraser traveling to Saint Martin's and Western Washington going to Northwest Nazarene. Montana State Billings and Seattle Pacific will open their conference seasons against each other at Interbay Stadium on Saturday.
