#Championships Preview The four teams that will compose the 2017 GNAC Championships field will all play each other this weekend in four-game series in Monmouth and Billings.

#LateHomecoming Western Oregon couldn't have timed its first home game any better as the Wolves come home for the final series of the season, needing just one win to clinch a 14th GNAC regular season title.

#RainyTuesday The nightcap of Tuesday's doubleheader between Saint Martin's and Western Oregon was rained out in the fifth inning, preventing the game from being finished. Western Oregon's lead of 5-0 will be erased and the game is considered a no-contest.

#LetsPlay11 Montana State Billings needed 11 innings in the first game of Friday's doubleheader to beat Concordia 6-3. The Yellowjackets took three of four in the series.

#TheDoublesMachine Central Washington's Connor Plaisance was named the GNAC Player of the Week after belting a pair of doubles last week. He has now hit a GNAC-leading 15 doubles this year.

#MillerTime Western Oregon's Brady Miller showed this week why he was last year's GNAC Pitcher of the Year as he tossed a one-run complete game to beat Saint Martin's 5-1 in the first series of the week.

GNAC Championships Preview Weekend

PORTLAND, Ore. -- Following Western Oregon's 8-3 win against Saint Martin's on Tuesday, the GNAC Championships four-team field was set with only the seeding of the tournament left to be decided.

The four teams are Western Oregon, Central Washington, Northwest Nazarene and Montana State Billings who will all play each other in the final weekend of the season as a de facto preview of the Championships event to be played at Porter Park on the campus of Concordia University, beginning on May 10.

Each of the three teams that were in the tournament last year are back, and with the size of the tournament being expanded to four teams, Montana State Billings was the fourth team to earn a spot.

The Yellowjackets will host Central Washington in a four-game series this week. Western Oregon, meanwhile, will seek to win its 14th GNAC regular season title in program history as it hosts its first series of the season. The Wolves will be hosting Northwest Nazarene, which is currently third in the GNAC standings. In Lacey, Washington, Saint Martin's will wrap up its season, hosting Concordia.

Series Previews

CENTRAL WASHINGTON at MONTANA STATE BILLINGS

BILLINGS, Mont. -- The Wildcats enter the final weekend of the regular season with a shot to win their first GNAC regular season title in program history, needing a four-game sweep to have a chance at catching Western Oregon.

The Yellowjackets, meanwhile, are currently looking at being the No. 4 seed in the GNAC Championships, but could move up to as high as No. 2 if they can defend their home field.

When the series was in Ellensburg, Central Washington won three of four games, which was a part of the Wildcats' stretch of 10 wins in 12 games in the middle of the season. The one win for MSUB came when the Yellowjacket offense exploded for 14 runs, while Bryon Baker threw a gem, going 7.1 innings with two runs allowed for his fourth win of the season.

Throughout the season, Central Washington has had a number of individuals step up in big ways, earning the squad eight individual weekly honors, including GNAC Player of the Week in each of the last three weeks.

Jake Levin has been named both Pitcher of the Week and Player of the Week. He will miss the first game of the series, but he goes into Billings with a league-best 2.93 ERA, while also boasting a .325 batting average at the plate.

Montana State Billings owns the GNAC's most productive offense, scoring 292 runs this year. The Yellowjackets lead in the runs category by a large margin despite having only the fourth-best batting average in the GNAC. They make up for the lack of hits with conference-leading numbers in walks (177), steals (58) and extra-base hits (139).

Ryan Myers has been the leading source of the Yellowjackets' power, blasting 10 home runs and eight doubles with for a .634 slugging percentage.

NORTHWEST NAZARENE at WESTERN OREGON

MONMOUTH, Ore. -- One win away from securing a 14th GNAC regular season title in program history, Western Oregon picked the right time to finally play its first home game of the season as the Wolves host Northwest Nazarene.

The Crusaders are a game ahead of Montana State Billings in the GNAC standings, needing a strong showing in Monmouth to remain one of the top three teams going into the conference tournament the following week.

The two teams split the first four games of the season series in Nampa, where NNU swept the first doubleheader and WOU swept the second. Jaromy Jacobs was one out away from throwing a three-run complete game to finish the first doubleheader, when Nick Bland came in to pick up his third save of the season. In the next game, Brady Miller returned the favor with six shutout innings to lead the Wolves to a 15-1 victory.

Western Oregon has been characterized this season by its discipline at the plate, recording a GNAC-best .299 batting average with only 176 strikeouts taken all season. The Wolves average just 1.1 strikeouts per walk offensively, which is a mark that leads the GNAC by a large margin.

Brock Pradere has been the Wolves' leader statistically in this way, striking out just seven times in 138 plate appearances this season. He has a .313 batting average with 30 of his 35 hits going for singles.

Northwest Nazarene has relied on a strong pitching rotation throughout the 2017 season with its four starters throwing a combined 224.2 innings this season.

Ross Clevenger has thrown the bulk of those innings, tallying 72.2 while maintaining a 4.09 ERA and a 4-3 record in 11 starts.
