GNAC News & Notes

YELLOWJACKETS SHOW EARLY PROMISE Of the six GNAC teams to play last weekend, Montana State Billings impressed the most. The Yellowjackets currently sit atop the GNAC standings at 3-1 after winning their last three games. Montana State Billings lost a heartbreaking slugfest to No. 19 Dixie State on Thursday, 12-11. Bouncing back the next day, MSUB took care of Cal State San Bernardino 12-5 before claiming the series against Dixie State with 15-3 and 14-11 wins over the weekend.

The rest of the GNAC teams have yet to find their feet. Aside from Central Washington, who earned three wins over Academy of Art, the remaining GNAC teams went 1-15. Northwest Nazarene earned an 11-3 win over Chico State on Friday before ultimately losing the series. Concordia, Western Oregon and Saint Martin's were all swept in its opening four contests.

All teams will compete on the road for the third consecutive week. This will be the case for the entire non-conference slate as the GNAC will not host a game until conference play begins in early March.

WOLVES IN THE RANKINGS: In the preseason edition of the NCBWA Preseason Division II West Region Poll, Western Oregon is the lone GNAC team included at No. 7 with 25 points. The conference did receive more recognition, however, as Central Washington (6), Montana State Billings (3) and Northwest Nazarene (2) were among five teams that received votes.

WESTERN OREGON PICKED TO REPEAT AS CHAMPIONS: After capturing both the regular season title and GNAC championship last year, Western Oregon is picked yet again to win the conference in the 2018 Great Northwest Athletic Conference Baseball Preseason Coaches Poll.

The Wolves received two first-place votes to finish with 30 points in the poll. Western Oregon clinched the regular season by 4.5 games and outscored opponents 26-10 in the GNAC Championships to claim its 14th conference title in program history.

Closely behind the Wolves is Montana State Billings, a team that won 23 games under first-year head coach Aaron Sutton. Picked second with 29 points, the Yellowjackets are one of four teams to receive a first-place vote. Montana State Billings tied for third last season and went 0-2 in the conference tournament. Central Washington is picked third with 24 points while Northwest Nazarene is picked fourth (21 points).

Rounding out the coaches poll was Saint Martin's (fifth, 16 pts.) and Concordia (sixth, 7 pts.).

For the second season in a row, the GNAC Championships will include four teams after being a three-team tournament up until the 2017 season. The GNAC Championships will be hosted by Central Washington on May 10-11 in Ellensburg, Wash. This will be the first time in the tournament's six-year history that the Wildcats will host the event.
