WEEK 3 PREVIEW

Two PFL contests highlight Week 3 action across the league. Five other non-conference tilts round out the league's schedule with four contests against fellow FCS opposition.

Marist will play its second conference contest in as many weeks when it heads cross country to face San Diego. The Red Foxes have not defeated the Toreros in four previous meetings all of which have taken place in San Diego, including a 40-22 USD victory last season. Both squads suffered losses in Week 2 – Marist dropping a home PFL affair to Drake while San Diego fell on the road to Northern Colorado.

A "Tar Heel State" tussle will see Campbell and Davidson – teams separated by 160 miles – each open their PFL campaigns. The Wildcats won last season's meeting, 49-0, which was one of the Camels four shutout losses – all in PFL play – during their freshman campaign. Davidson will seek its first scoring drive this season after suffering back-to-back shutouts this season. Campbell has rolled up 76 points in its first two contests, but fell in overtime at Birmingham-Southern last weekend.

Butler continues its Hoosier State tour when it hosts to Hanover the 23rd meeting between two foes. The two teams were scheduled to play last season but severe storm damage on the Hanover campus caused that game to be cancelled. Butler has won its first two outings this season behind the impressive play of sophomore quarterback Andrew Huck who has earned the league's first two "Offensive Player of the Week" honors.

Dayton will make its first road trip this season when it meets Joe Walton-coached Robert Morris at Joe Walton Stadium. Both squads are seeking their first victories this season. The Flyers lost their season-opener in Week 2 by three points. The Colonials are 0-2 but lost their opener by one point before falling by three points in Week 2.

Jacksonville will play its first home contest in Week 3 and hosts Old Dominion. The Dolphins went 1-1 in their first two road games, but lost at Samford last weekend. The Monarchs are returning to football for the first time in 69 years but have won their first two contests.

Morehead State heads across the Appalachian Mountains to meet North Carolina Central, an independent program moving into the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference next season. MSU was shutout last weekend at St. Francis to even its record at 1-1. NCCU has opened its campaign with back-to-back road losses, Saturday's game serving as its home opener.

Drake and South Dakota will meet for the first time since 1972 when they meet in Vermillion, S.D., Saturday. The Bulldogs have opened their 2009 campaign with back-to-back victories, including a crucial PFL win at Marist in Week 2. South Dakota, in the midst of reclassifying to Division I, dropped its Week 2 contest at Northern Iowa to level its record at 1-1.
